An Illustrated Guide to Arthur Danto's "The End of Art"

But he thinks that a certain history of western art has come to an end, in about the way that Hegel suggested it would." The "end of art" refers to the beginning of our modern era of art in which art no longer adheres to the constraints of imitation theory but serves a new purpose. Art began with an "era of imitation, followed by an era of ideology, followed by our post-historical era in which, with qualification, anything goes...

The "death of painting," described here perfectly by David Carrier, is a theory of exhaustion. The "end of art" instead is a theory of consciousness of how a developmental sequence of events terminates in the consciousness of that sequence as a whole.

The End of Art: A Philosophical Defense

We focus on the anthropology of art from the mid-1980s to the present, a period of disturbance and significant transformation in the field of anthropology. The field can be understood to be responding to the destabilization of the category of "art" itself. Inaugural moments lie in the reaction to the Museum of Modern Art's 1984 exhibition , the increasing crisis of representation, the ...
