The Leica IIIf was Leitz's (later Leica) first 35mm camera body for screw mount lenses with built-in synchronization. It succeeded the Leica IIIc, which was a rare variant of the Leica IIIc. Built-in synch means that, unlike its predecessors, the IIIf didn't need an optional rework for flash photography.

IIIc is good, but so are IIIc, IIIa et al. Unless you plan to use flash, probably no particular reason to favor the IIIc.
Ideally, buy one which has had the original cloth shutter curtains replaced, and make sure yours includes a film take-up spool too.
