The Last Leaf Of

"The Last Leaf" is a short story by O. Henry published in 1907 in his collection The Trimmed Lamp and Other Story. The story is set in Greenwich Village during a pneumonia epidemic. It tells the story of an old artist who saves the life of a young neighboring artist, dying of pneumonia, by giving her the will to live. Through her window she can see an old ivy creeper, gradually shedding its leaves as autumn turns into winter, and she has taken the thought into her head that she will die when the

"The Last Leaf" ends with one of O. Henry's famous surprise endings: the "last leaf" is in fact a painting by Behrman. This seems to confirm what Sue and Behrman believed all along: that it wasn't the survival of the leaf that mattered, but the rekindling of Johnsy's hope. In a further twist, it is not Johnsy who dies, but Behrman.
